

At the core of our democratic form of government is the free exchange of ideas. The FCC must avoid actions that would erode the opportunity for such exchange. Any change in regulation that would encourage or allow important components of the mass media to fall under the control of a small number of companies or individuals would seriously erode our opportunities as citizen to participate in a free exchange of ideas. Please do not allow this to happen.